

I observed some good size crowns from Beehive Basin Road this afternoon. They were on the west side of the ridge dividing Beehive Basin and Jack Creek. They were not down to the ground but big and wide looked like probably all the recent snow from the storm. Photo: T Grande

Advisory Region
Northern Madison
Longitude
-111.41W

Latitude

45.35N

Avalanche Details: Natural Avalanches West of Beehive Peak

Northern Madison, 2020-02-11