

Located off Lionhead Ridge outside West Yellowstone, this natural avalanche likely released after the large storm ended Wednesday, December 15. This slope is SE facing and the crown is about 9,400 feet. Faceted snow at/near the ground was the likely weak layer that avalanched. Photo: GNFAC

Advisory Region

Lionhead Range

Longitude

-111.32W

Latitude

44.71N

Avalanche Details: Airplane Bowl natural avalanche

Forecast link: GNFAC Avalanche Forecast for Tue Dec 21, 2021

