

Avalanche near Buck Ridge wilderness boundary

Date

Fri, 02/03/2023 - 13:00

Activity

Snowmobiling

Avalanche (possibly sled/human triggered) on an easy to northeast facing slope around 9300 feet. There were lots of sled tracks on the slope, which is located just out of the wilderness at the far end of Buck Ridge. Slide and sled tracks appeared to be from after the weekend storm and we're covered with light snow from the last couple days. Noted lots of wind transported snow along buck ridge this afternoon.

Region

Northern Madison

Location (from list)

Buck Ridge

Observer Name

Kyle M