

Soft snow - No avalanches

Date

Wed, 03/29/2023 - 12:30

Activity

Snowmobiling

Uneventful day. Rode through all three yellowmules, McAtee Basin, and the heads of Muddy and Bear Creeks. Saw no recent avalanches or other signs of instability. Dug two snowpits on E and N aspects at ~9400 ft. About 12" of snow from last weekend with 1.3" snow water equivalent. ECTN14&16 under the new snow. No other results.

Snowing lightly with overcast skies and calm winds. We'll be paying attention as it starts snowing tomorrow, especially if the wind picks up as forecasted.

Region

Northern Madison

Location (from list)

Buck Ridge

Observer Name

Ian Hoyer