

Natural avalanche on East Henderson

Date

Wed, 02/07/2024 - 17:40

Activity

Skiing

Natural avalanche on East Side of Henderson Mtn. seen late on 2/7/24. South of the two that Doug saw last week, along the ridge. Could have happened yesterday or last night. I didn't see it yesterday when riding up and down Fisher creek, but visibility was mediocre. The debris and bed had at least some new snow on it.

Also had a large rumbling collapse near 10,000' west facing when following one skier's old skin track. And had a few large collapses on south facing slopes between 8,000-9000'.

Region

Cooke City

Location (from list)

Henderson Mountain

Observer Name

Alex Marienthal