

Divide basin is shedding some of its layers

Date

Sat, 03/02/2024 - 12:20

Activity

Snowboarding

The sky's broke for about three minutes today and I was able to get a look at the back north facing wall in the divide basin up the main fork of hyalite and it finally shed some of its layers.

the slide propagated the length between the two peaks in the photo

Region

Northern Gallatin

Location (from list)

Divide Cirque