

Stubborn Windslabs in Hyalite

Date

Sat, 03/08/2025 - 11:00

Activity

Skiing

Widespread wind effect in the alpine of Hyalite yesterday. The windslabs were fairly stubborn however, and were only breaking in very small pockets, not propagating outwards. Where the recent snow was still protected from sun and wind, large dry loose slides were easy to trigger.

Region

Northern Gallatin

Location (from list)

Hyalite - main fork

Observer Name

Wyatt Hubbard